Living-in.EU: Shaping Europe's digital transformation together

In an era defined by climate change, digital innovation, and economic transition, our way of life is undergoing profound shifts. These changes impact the way we live, work, and learn, demanding new ways of organization. Technology stands as a vital tool empowering leaders, including mayors, to address the challenges emerging from these transformations. Yet, the magnitude of change necessitates a collaborative approach, by working together at the local and European level.

In response, the Living-in.EU movement was born in 2019, with a resolute mission: to collectively drive the digital transformation across all corners of Europe – from countries, regions and municipalities. The aim is to amplify the advantages of digital solutions through an approach driven by cities and centered around citizens: we champion the concept of cities as open innovation ecosystems.
